No, actually the way it went was, I reported to Curtis the day or 2 after our Cable advisory meeting, gave him a rundown on what we had discussed and voted on. Curtis stated that he still wanted to see it be "OPEN" to others. In conversations with Doug Humes he also stated the same. I told Curtis he should talk to Marshall to see thru Marshall's eyes/view why the Advisory committee voted the way we did. When I got off the phone with Curtis, I called Marshall to discuss Curtis and Doug's concerns and to make sure Marshall talked to Curtis and maybe Doug. Marshall, said he should have a meeting with Doug and Curtis, to let them see his view. So I in turn called Doug and Curtis to see if they could meet Marshall In Canaan because I was over there doing showings. I really had nothing in mind other than that, did not imagine it would turn out as it did.
